Dear Friends:

I am writing in avid support of a national registry that would make it illegal for telemarketers to call anyone on that list.

Telemarketers regularly violate and invade my home, and I ~~am~~ very tired of it. I resent the fact that they have turned my telephone number into a marketing weapon against my family and myself. And it is appalling that we have to spend money on Caller ID in an attempt to avoid these unwanted intrusions. Telemarketers ~~try~~ to hide behind the First Amendment. Don't Americans have a right to not listen to unwanted and unsolicited sales attempts? If an unwanted person continually comes to my door and harasses my family, I can call the police. Neighborhoods put up "No Soliciting" signs to stop door-to-door sales. I love the idea of having my name and phone number on a "No Soliciting" list that has some credence.

Thank you for your interest in this issue.

Sincerely,

Telemarketing Rulemaking
Comment FTC File #419001

Dear Sir,

I support the FTC proposal for a national telemarketing do-not-call list.

Just as I would not allow any unsolicited salesperson into the privacy of my home to make his pitch, I resent the annoying invasion of my privacy that these calls represent.

The sooner you pass the necessary legislation, the better.

Sincerely,

John I. Welsh

FTC File No. R 411001

Dear Sirs:

My wife and I wish to register my strong support for the proposal for a national telemarketing “do not call list.” Please do what you can to bring such a proposal into law and enforcement.

Citizens should have the right to exclude the involuntary intrusion of their homes by telemarketers, when citizens pick up their phones, not knowing who is calling, only to face an unwanted marketing pitch.

With thanks,

Sincerely yours,

Re: "Telemarketing Rulemaking-Comment.
FTC File No. R411001."

To Whom It May Concern:

Please help do whatever you can to rid me of the burden of dealing with telemarketers.
I must receive at least 10 calls everyday... including weekends.

I have been ill & had 12 surgeries. I have had to resort to taking my phone off the hook in order to be able to sleep while ill. I had a total hysterectomy & was quite ill upon discharge from the hospital. Telemarketing calls started as early as 7:00 a.m.! I took my phone off the hook for @ 3 hours. Within 2 minutes of hanging it up, my phone began ringing again... & was a telemarketer! It is maddening!

They even have computer calls that when you try to pick up call to tell them not to call again, you can't even get anyone... it goes into a ringing sound & hangs up!

Please help!
Thank you!

Sincerely,
Elaine D. Williams

Please stop these people fr calling my phone - I get at least 10 calls a day that just
"click off" when I answer
I have called my phone

Yes - "go get em".
Enough is enough. One call to stop many unwanted and annoying calls is a wonderful long overdue idea. Please pass this rule. I'm ready to sign up now.

Thank-you so much.

TO WHO MIT MY CONCERN,

YES, I ALONG WITH OTHER AMERICANS HAVE HAD IT WITH UNWANTED CALLS FROM TELEMARKEETERS. ADD MY NAME TO THE DO NOT CALL LIST. I FEEL MY PHONE IS SOMETHING I PAY FOR.
IT IS NOT TO BE USED OR ABUSED BY SOME TELEMARKEETERS OR SOLICITERS. THANK YOU FOR LISTENING. YOU WOULD DO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE A GREAT SERVICE BY AKING THIS SERIOUSLY. THANK YOU

Dear Members of the Commission:

I write to add my voice to those you have doubtless heard from all across the country to support an end to the scourge of telemarketing. I work much of the day at home, as does my wife. The interruptions of telemarketers are not only an unconscionable invasion of privacy but exact an actual economic cost on us in lost time and concentration, and background stress and irritation. These unwanted solicitations amount to nothing less than home invasion, and what they steal from us each time in privacy and peace of mind, although seemingly intangible, is quite real. I am at a loss to understand why they should ever have been permitted to operate in the first place. I urge you to put a stop to them for good and for all. Nothing less will do.

Sincerely,

Gentlemen:

We were glad to read that you are proposing a national do-not-call list for telemarketing.

This ~~letter~~ is intended as a vote for <sup>what</sup> you are trying to do and to say that we would appreciate it very much if you can get this done. I'm glad someone is finally realizing that one should not have to be bothered with these calls in the privacy of one's home.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Gentlemen:

I understand that you are considering a national do-not-call list for telemarketers. This would be a great service to millions of people who do not want to be bothered by them.

This household has been put on do-not-call lists that are available now, and it has helped, but it hasn't altogether eliminated the intrusions. Therefore, please do what you can to implement this proposal. Many people would greatly appreciate it.

Thank you.
